CHICKENEE! Remember how light it was outside Thursday night? I remember it was so light I went out about 9:30 and pulled up some grass that was coming up in my driveway.

But that is beside the point. We're going to discuss chickens.

Mrs. Anna Miller of 429 West Church street late Thursday night heard a noise out in her chicken yard. At first she thought maybe somebody was trying to steal some and she listened. Then she went to bed and listened, and by then it was around midnight.

She heard a sound that went "peck, peck, peck, peck."

Mrs. Miller investigated further and saw her flock out eating in the chicken yard in the bright moonlight.

"I guess it was so bright they thought it was day," Mrs. Miller told me. It's the most peculiar thing I've ever heard of in my whole life. And my neighbor, Jim Barnes, who is 89 years old, said he never had heard of chickens going out in the chicken yard and eating at midnight.

Neither did I.

Is the city having water problems? Tell 'em to get in touch with Otto Barnett, who operates the D-X bulk plant right next to the water station.

I passed by there Friday morning when a hole was being dug to sink a big gasoline tank. They were down five feet and there was considerable water down in the bottom.

Otto said that the ground got real moist about a foot or two down and by the time they reached two or three more feet down there was water coming out of the earth, despite our drought conditions.

Nope, they hadn't broken into a water main.

A bit of the Southwest can be found at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hutchinson at 923 South McKinley avenue. There are no horned toads, but there are several directions you can look and see a cactus. Mrs. Hutchinson has a number of cacti.

Most interesting to me was the one on the front porch. It's six feet tall and looks like one you'd expect to see on the desert. Mrs. Hutchinson got it from a woman who brought it to her from Arizona about ten years ago. It was about a foot tall then.

"It really didn't start growing until about a year ago," she said. "They tell me this type has blooms after it is 60 years old."

She had one in the side yard that had had 27 blooms on it a week ago.

"It was beautiful," Mrs. Hutchinson said. "Lots of people stopped to see it."

She showed me about eight different varieties. One, called the Crown of Thorns, blooms nine months out of the year. But right now is its rest period.

From the Eldorado Journal I took this information.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Tyree of Eldorado, on a recent trip through the West, stopped at the scene of a highway accident south of Granite, Colo. They were told a soldier was pinned in the wreckage, dead.

Returning home they learned of the highway death of Pvt. Edward Franklin Hall of Eldorado in that vicinity. A check of details revealed it was the crash in which the Eldorado boy was the victim.

Local Group Sponsors Oil Test Near City Limits

The latest oil development in Saline county, the Oscar Taylor No. 1, located in Section 8, one mile northwest of the city limits of the City of Harrisburg on the Oscar Taylor farm, is being financed and sponsored by a group of local businessmen with the Southern Oil Development company, also a local concern.

Southern Oil Development company, Dean and Hollowell, Agents, Operators, are using Stebbins rotary tools from Noble, Ill. They moved in on location and are rigging up today.

Dean and Hollowell are well known southern Illinois geologists. Mr. Dean is the son of Orval Dean, prominent local businessman. It is reported that this is the closest operation to Harrisburg since 1949 and that the Cyprus sand will be tested at approximately 2379 feet.

First Baptist Church Dedicates New Youth Education Building

Dedication of the new Baptist youth building, by the congregation and pastor of the First Baptist church of Harrisburg, took place Sunday, with special services in the church, and a brief ceremony under the boiling sun in front of the new building.

The Rev. Joe Morman presided at the formal dedication of the new building, praying for the blessing of the building and its workers and Sunday School members. As he concluded, ribbons, tied in a rosette across the doors of the new building were cut by Vernard E. Clayton, chairman of the Building committee, Bob Burnett, general superintendent of the Sunday school department, and Ed Creek, Training Union director.

As the ceremony concluded, those

Mattoon Hires Rainmakers To Save Crops

MATTOON, Ill. —Rainmakers scanned the skies today for clouds that might bring showers for parched Coles County crops.

A St. Louis firm that "seeds" clouds by airplane with chemicals that induce rain set up operations at Coles county airport, under a contract signed with the Mattoon Association of Commerce.

The association hopes the firm will be able to find enough rain to save crops in western Coles county from the threat of severe damage from drought and heat.

Corn has been holding up well until recently, when extreme heat combined with the lack of rain began "burning" the crop, which is valued at some two million dollars.

The contract with the rainmakers calls for payments of $3,700 a month. Farmers are being asked to contribute to the cost, and solicitors said they were coming through generously. One said the first 10 farmers he talked to shelled out $600.

The Association of Commerce plans to use the services of the rainmakers for one to three months. The St. Louis firm said it believes there is an average of nine days a month on which it is possible to "seed" clouds and bring on rain artificially.

Though the project is aimed at crop relief, there won't be any complaints if some showers accidentally fall on the city of Mattoon.

The city's lake has been dry since February, and residents are getting their water from wells. Watering gardens and lawns, and washing cars, are taboo.

No Immediate Reconciliation By Dentist, Wife

ALLEGAN, Mich. — Dr. Kenneth B. Small, society dentist who fatally shot his wife's lover, will be psychoanalyzed and so will his wife before they decide whether to attempt a reconciliation.

Mrs. Small, 30, said after a meeting with her husband in jail that an immediate reconciliation was unlikely. Small was found to be temporarily insane at the shooting. He will go free if he is found now to be sane.

"I just don't know what will happen to our marriage," she said. "But whatever we do, it will be what is best for the children, Ken and myself."

Career Prosecutor To Aid in Labor Racketeering Trials

ST. LOUIS — Thomas E. DeWolfe, career prosecutor in the U. S. Department of Justice, said today he has been assigned to help U. S. Atty. Clifford Raemer with pending labor racketeering trials at East St. Louis, Ill.

DeWolfe has been prosecuting labor leaders indicted on similar charges here. In three trials, he has won convictions of six men.

In 1951 and 1952, DeWolfe handled the federal grand jury investigation of tax violations in the Eastern District of Missouri.

He prosecuted former Internal Revenue Collector James P. Finnegan, who was convicted of misconduct and sentenced to two years in prison.

DeWolfe, who has the title of special assistant to the attorney general, attracted international attention after World War II when he convicted "Tokyo Rose," the American-born Japanese agent, for treason.

DeWolfe said he will go to his home at Seattle, Wash., for a vacation before returning to East St. Louis in time to prepare for labor racketeering trials docketed this fall.

FT. BENNING, Ga. — Maj. John Eisenhower, son of the President, has been assigned brief duty as a military aide at the White House, it was announced here.

"They have some business they want me to handle and I will be assigned essentially as an aide," the young officer said.

Maj. Eisenhower will leave here about July 22 for temporary duty with the White House military liaison office before leaving about Aug. 10 for Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., where he will attend the Army Command General Staff College.

Medical Society Warns Against Self-Conducted Saltless Diets

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Self-imposed and self-conducted "low sodium diets," may prove fatal, especially in hot weather, the Illinois Medical Society warned today.

The society's committee on nutrition said the current fad for the so-called "salt-free," "salt-poor," or "low sodium diet" should never be maintained except under close, constant supervision by a physician.

Any person who succumbs to the popular fad in the hope of losing weight or reducing blood pressure may be sadly disappointed, since the effect of sodium restriction is largely the loss of water, not the loss of sodium, the committee said. It pointed out that the water is quickly replaced because of the thirst that results.

24th Ozark Tour Under Way by Group of 30 Men

William Farley Signals Start Sunday With Blasts of Horn

By BOB ULLRICH
United Press Staff Correspondent
GOREVILLE, Ill. (U.P.) — About 30 business and professional men were deep in the rolling hills of the Illinois Ozark region today, getting away from their workaday cares as members of the 24th annual Illinois Ozark tour.

William Farley, a representative of the Illinois Public Aid Commission at Harrisburg, this year leads the tour which the late L. O. Trigg, an Eldorado newspaper publisher, started in 1930.

Farley, a tall, robust man with a bristling white mustache, signaled the start at Harrisburg Sunday with three blasts on a hollowed out horn—a signal which repeatedly calls the "Ozarkers" in the chartered school bus after stops at scenic spots.

Mailman Is Scout

After camping out at Ferne Clyffe State Park near here Sunday night, the party started at dawn today on a route laid out by Wayman Presley, a rural mail carrier from Makanda. Presley served as "chief scout" for this year's tour and surveyed the route several times.

Presley is on his third Ozark tour after being skeptic about the men who made the trip. Said Presley: "I thought this gang was a bunch of city fellows I'd have to help over fences and pick out the group for a day or two as they one year cutting down trees and pushing the bus to get back to a scenic spot, I decided they were for me."

City Folk Join
Some of the tour members are real "city fellows." Wesley Frederickson and his two sons are from Chicago. Frederickson, a salesman, learned of the tour through the Illinois Historical Society and is making his second trip as an "Ozarker."

Down from Bloomington for his first tour is Lafayette Funk, who is in the hybrid seed business. Fred Tuscher, a Pana druggist, is a newcomer, too.

Among the veterans is Curt Small, a Harrisburg newspaper publisher, who made the second tour Trigg conducted in 1931. Other veterans and newcomers join the group for a day or two as their businesses permit, or make the whole three-day trip.

Visit Panther Den

Presley laid out a route that includes many scenic bluffs and historic caves in the area. He considers the tour high spots this year to be a visit to Panther Den, seven miles west of here, and Cave Hollow, four miles east of Pomona. A well-preserved prehistoric Indian dwelling is located at the Hollow.

The biggest treat for the Ozarkers will be camping tonight at what Presley calls "the old swimmin' hole," a secluded pool with gravel beach where the all-male party will go back to boyhood days and swim without bathing suits. Then they'll sleep on the beach.

Tuesday's route leads to Grand Tower on the Mississippi River and Fountain Bluff where there are prehistoric Indian pictographs on the face of the bluff.

Bat and Saltpeter caves also will be visited before the group heads back to Harrisburg.

Caves Hold Dangers
The trips into the caves can be filled with danger and thrills. Last year, Frederickson's boys were in a boat that tipped into deep water.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES E. FLEMING, who were killed in an automobile collision early Saturday morning. Fleming was stationed with the Air Force at McGuire Air Force Base, N. J., and the accident occurred near there.

Await Arrival of Bodies for Fleming Double Funeral

Funeral plans for James E. Fleming and his wife, the former Phyllis Yates, who were killed early Saturday morning in an automobile collision in New Jersey, are incomplete. However, the double funeral probably will be held Thursday afternoon.

Jesse Gibbons of the Gibbons funeral home will return with the body of Mrs. Fleming and the body of James Fleming, who was stationed with the Air Force at McGuire Air Force Base, Ft. Dix, N. J., will be returned by train with a military escort. The expected time of arrival had not been learned this morning.

The funeral will be held at the McKinley Baptist church with Rev. J. D. McCarty, church pastor, officiating. The young couple was married by Rev. Jenkins and were converted in one of his sermons.

An Associated Press release from Mount Holly, N. J., appearing in Sunday metropolitan newspapers, revealed seven persons, six in one car and one in another, were killed in the collision that claimed the lives of the two Harrisburg young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Fleming were in an automobile with four others driven by Eugene Brudner. Other occupants were Mrs. Margaret Laughlin, widowed daughter of the driver and her two children.

The seventh victim was also stationed at Ft. Dix. He was W. O. 2c Harold S. Moran, 37 years of age. The press release stated Moran had earlier been warned "to take it easy."

Besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loren Fleming, residents of Buena Vista west of Harrisburg, young Fleming is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Carl (Mary) Winkelman and Mrs. Darrell (Nina) Angelly of Harrisburg; Mrs. John (Deloris) Healey of Middletown, Ohio, and two brothers, Kenneth and Carl at home.

Surviving Mrs. Fleming, who would have been 17 years of age in October, are her mother, Mrs. Madeline Duke, Chicago; three sisters, Mrs. James Presley, Dallas, Texas; Mrs. James Maxwell Waukegan, and Mrs. Eloise Logan, Medford, Oregon; and a brother, Andrew Yates, Waukegan.

Rites at Equality For Henry McDonald

Henry McDonald, 66, Equality, died in the Eldorado Nursing home late Saturday afternoon.

The funeral was today at 3 p. m. at the Social Brethren church in Equality. Rev. Clifford Brinkley officiated, and burial was in the Elmwood cemetery.

The A. K. Moore funeral home was in charge.

Two Missing Dionne Girls Arrive Home

CALLANDER, Ont. (U.P.)—The mystery of the two missing Dionne quintuplets was solved today and relatives said their disappearance was only "rumor."

Marie, the shy, frail member, "disappeared" after she quit the convent where she was preparing to become a nun.

Emilie, believed to be "run down" after taking some examinations at Quebec college, had been reported "lost" in Montreal.

But the two girls arrived at their parents' home together Sunday ending what brother-in-law Maurice Girouard of Waterloo, Que., called "all kinds of rumors" about them.

The "rumors" started when Emilie arrived in Montreal from St. Agathe, Que., en route home for the summer. She stopped and asked a policeman the way to the bus depot. After she identified herself, word got out that she was lost in the big city.

Police telephoned the palace of Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger. The palace sent a chauffeur to take her to Mrs. Girouard's home in Waterloo.

Meanwhile, Marie gave up her novitiate at the Servants of the Blessed Sacrament Convent in Quebec City for health reasons and made her way to Waterloo with another member of the family.

The sisters met there and left for home by car Saturday escorted by three of their brothers.

B. J. Evans of Ridgway Dies

B. J. Evans, 65, known to his friends as "Bede," Ridgway, died in the St. James, Mo., Soldiers home Saturday at 11:30 p. m.

The body will arrive today in Ridgway and be received by the Cox funeral home.

The funeral will be Tuesday at 2 p. m. but other arrangements are incomplete.

He was a brother of Ed Evans, Ridgway, Mrs. Lizzie Boaz and Miss Lela Evans, both of St. Louis, Mo., and Mrs. Eva Awalt, Granite City.

Auto Damaged by Fire

The fire department made a run to the 1300 block on South Feazel street at 2 p. m. Sunday. Fire Chief Ray Johnson reports. A 1952 Dodge with Indiana license, owned by W. W. Walters, was slightly damaged from a fire caused by a defective gas line. The fire was extinguished with chemicals.

New Concession Cuts Viet Nam At 17th Parallel

Prospects Brighter For Peace Before Deadline by Mendes

GENEVA (U.P.) — High French sources said today France has agreed to surrender to the Reds all northern Viet Nam above the 17th parallel—including Hanoi and eventually the port of Haiphong—in a final bid to win an Indochina peace by Tuesday's French-imposed deadline.

The reported concessions mean that France has given up all hope of holding Haiphong.

Previously the Reds had demanded the 14th parallel and the French originally insisted upon the 18th.

The new French offer would cut Viet Nam in half 25 miles north of the railway center of Kang Tri, and just below the narrow waist of the state. It would hold for the French the big air base at Tourane, the only one in Southeast Asia capable of handling atom bombers.

Very Near Agreement

French sources said the Communists are not content with the 17th parallel offer, but that the two sides now are so near agreement that final cease-fire agreement could be reached "in 30 minutes."

Other sources said the West's proposed cease fire would not follow a geographical parallel but would wander across the narrow neck of Viet Nam, somewhere between the 16th and 17th parallels in order to preserve for France the important colonial route linking Laos with the sea.

The Communists, these sources said, are insisting on possession of Tourane and Hue, the ancient Annamite capital. Up to mid-afternoon these issues had not been ironed out.

These sources said that Haiphong would be retained by the French, under the latest offer, only long enough to permit safe evacuation of French and loyal Vietnamese who do not want to live under communism. The Reds are understood to have suggested a 230-day limit on French control of the port.

The French concessions were said by a high Western source to have greatly brightened prospects for agreement before the expiration of French Premier Pierre Mendes-France's "peace or resign" deadline which expires at midnight Tuesday.

This highly placed informant said only two major obstacles stood in the way of a settlement and that it appeared both would be surmounted to the satisfaction of each side in the seven-year-old war.

U. S. Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith settled the issue of a guarantee of the peace. France's demand for a "pledging" Sunday night that the U. S. would not disturb an Indochina settlement by "threats or use of force."

Election Date Undetermined

The East and West were at odds on the issues of a cease-fire line and the naming of a date for elections in Vietnam, largest of the three Indochina states and major battleground of the Indochina war.

In the current deadlock, Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov demanded elections within six months, but the West refused to concede on this point, preferring to wait until conditions return to normal in Vietnam.

Mrs. Thomas Stewart Dies at Beulah Heights

Mrs. Estella Mae Stewart, 74, died Sunday morning at 1 o'clock at her home, 1107 Kerr street in the Beulah Heights area.

She is survived by her husband, Thomas, and the following children: Mrs. Daisy Greer, Maunie, Mrs. Lillian Rude, St. Louis, Mo.; John Talkington, Denver, Colo.; Coleman Talkington, St. Louis, Mo.; Mrs. Mary Boone, Pontiac, Mich.; Clarence Talkington, Eldorado, James Talkington, Eldorado, and Mrs. Lora Lograsso, St. Louis, Mo., and one brother.

The funeral was today at 3 p. m. at the residence. Rev. Louie Durfee officiated, and burial was in the Lindale Memorial Gardens.

The Eldorado funeral home was in charge.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Senate Reviews Avenues Open
To Rebuking McCarthy; Henry Ford Forced Sen. Newberry's Resignation In 1922; Utilities-Backed Sen. Smith Unseated Four Years Later.

WASHINGTON. — In view of Senator Flanders' insistence on a vote on his anti-McCarthy resolution, senatorial researchers have been looking up the precedents for unseating or disciplining members of the Senate.

There was one other case of senatorial censure in recent years, two cases where senators have been expelled from the Senate, and one case where a senator was on the point of expulsion when he resigned. In the House of Representatives there have been two cases this year where congressmen were relieved of committee chairmanships by a vote of their fellow members — Clare Hoffman of Michigan and Alvin Weichel of Ohio.

The senator who was censured was Hiram Bingham of Connecticut, Republican, who had brought a representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers Association into a closed hearing on the Smoot-Hawley Tariff during the Hoover administration. Following a vote of censure he was defeated the next election.

The two senators ousted were William Vare of Pennsylvania and Frank Smith of Illinois, both elected in 1926. Truman Newberry of Michigan, elected in 1918, faced a certain ouster when he resigned.

HENRY FORD VS. NEWBERRY
Of these, perhaps the most interesting case is that of Senator Newberry, who previously had served as secretary of the navy in the cabinet of President Theodore Roosevelt. Newberry ran against Henry Ford and defeated him.

Ford, founder of the automobile empire, ran on both the Republican and Democratic tickets, lost out to Newberry in the Republican primary, then in the final election. Woodrow Wilson, then president, supported Ford — quite a change from his grandson Henry Ford II, who has been a vigorous Republican.

After his defeat, Ford claimed fraud and charged Newberry with spending $500,000. The expenditure of large amounts of money was noted during the campaign by Arthur Vandenberg, later a senator, then editor of the Grand Rapids Herald. Newberry was tried and convicted of violating the Corrupt Practices Act, but the higher courts set the conviction aside.

And when his case came before the Senate he was finally seated—even though his own financial report showed the expenditure of $195,000 which was considered an exorbitant campaign fund in those days. The vote was 46 to 43 with all Democrats voting against him, plus eight Republicans including Borah of Idaho and Edge of New Jersey.

Popular reaction to the Newberry case was such that the Democrats scored heavily in the 1922 congressional elections. Even Senator Townsend of Michigan, a Republican who championed Newberry, was defeated.

Eleven days after the election, on Nov. 18, 1922, facing an almost certain ouster, Newberry resigned.

Some Democratic senators see a parallel in the McCarthy case today and figure that a vote for Mc-Carthy on the Flanders resolution will boomerang against the Republican next November.

PRIVATE-UTILITY SENATOR

The case against Sen. Frank Smith of Illinois four years later was based upon the fact that the big utilities contributed $203,000 to his Republican primary. The late Sam Insull, one of the biggest utilities magnates in the midwest, contributed $125,000, with the balance coming from other magnates, including Clement Studebaker, president of Illinois Power and Light.

Smith was then head of the Illinois Commerce Commission which regulated the utilities. The Senate immediately investigated, and by a two-thirds majority voted to unseat Smith. Ironically, Harold Ickes, Progressive Republican and a strong New Dealer in the Roosevelt cabinet, had originally supported him.

It was also in 1926 that William Vare of Pennsylvania was elected and also unseated — though after a two-year debate.

Vare, the Republican boss of Philadelphia sometimes called the

"ash-can statesman," had been elected to the Senate after a primary battle with George Wharton Pepper, a blue-stocking lawyer, and Gov. Gifford Pinchot, a Teddy Roosevelt Bull-Moose. Vare was backed by the Mellon interests of Pittsburgh by a cool campaign kitty of $1,800,000. In addition, Vare himself had spent $785,000.

Though he won both the primary and the election, his Democratic opponent, William B. Wilson, the former coal miner who served as secretary of labor in Woodrow Wilson's cabinet, challenged the election, and after a long battle Vare was voted out of the Senate by his own colleagues.

CAPITAL NEWS CAPSULES

Knowland Scored — The American embassy reports that Senator Knowland is responsible for Prime Minister Churchill's sudden decision to oppose Red China's admission to the United Nations. Churchill was greatly alarmed at Knowland's threat to pull the United States out of the U. N. he read about Knowland's stand while he was on the SS Queen Elizabeth en route home. The old British warrior pondered over the speech, and, fearing a U. S. return to isolationism, he changed his mind before the boat docked and reluctantly announced he would not press for Red China's membership at this time.

Unhappy Alliance — General
"Wild Bill" Donovan, our cloak-and-dagger ambassador to Thailand, has reported that the Thai government is the most corrupt in Southeast Asia — however, we're forced to support it just the same.
Donovan was sent to this Asiatic listening post last year to organize our intelligence network.
His mission is now completed, and he will return to Washington to serve as a special adviser to Eisenhower. Meanwhile, Donovan reports that Thai top officials freely take graft. As a result, much of our aid to Thailand goes into their private pockets. Nevertheless, Donovan advised Washington that Thailand must be kept a bulwark for the West, and he recommended a "crash" program to speed up the arms flow.

The sardonic television quiz-

It was the third marriage for Temperatures climbed past 110 and the heat had already claimed the first in a new string of victims.

The U. S. Weather Bureau said 100-degree temperatures or better were the rule from central Texas and northern Louisiana to southwestern North Dakota.

St. Louis, Mo., where 45 died in the blazing heat last week, was the nation's hotbox Sunday with where the heat killed 33, it was 111 degrees.

Other highs Sunday were 106 at Little Rock, Ark., 105 at Oklahoma

Millions Crowd Beach

Another heat wave hung on in southern California, where two deaths were blamed on the weather.
The temperature hit 90 in the Los Angeles area and an estimated 1,155,000 persons crowded the beaches.

At Long Beach, Calif., nearly one million persons stood in sizzling 91-degree heat to watch 79 of the world's prettiest girls compete for the title of Miss Universe.
Four of the girls paraded after collapsing from the heat.

Cool breezes meanwhile held the temperature down in the northern Great Lakes region and it was fair in most of the Midwest.

Extreme Heat is Threat to Crops

By United Press

A scorching heat wave seared Illinois today. Farm experts said the weather was posing a serious threat to many crops.

Temperatures in the 90s and 100s were forecast for the state today.
Even higher readings were in store for Tuesday.

The only rain in sight was scattered showers.
Joseph A. Ewing, head of the State-Federal Department of Agricultural Statistics, said the situation was serious in many central and southern Illinois fields, due to extreme heat and a lack of rain.

Corn Crop Burns

Ewing said in some lighter soils south of Springfield, the corn crop was "burned beyond redemption." It was impossible to make any

Notorious Gangster Dies in Prison

COTTONDALE, Tex., (AP) — The body of George (Machine Gun) Kelly, who left this area as the toughest of the toughs in the turbulent 1930s, was brought home today for a quiet funeral.

The notorious gangster, whose name once caused terror even among underworld figures, died of a heart attack in the grim federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., Saturday. Final rites were expected here Tuesday.

Kelly had lived in Alcatraz and Leavenworth prisons for 21 years.
During that period he changed from a haughty blusterer to a mild and gentle man, relatives said.

accurate damage estimate, however, he said.

"It's awfully hard to put your finger on it because you've got one big 'if,' he said. "If it rains today, the damage won't be so high. If it doesn't rain this week, it's going to get a lot worse."

Ewing said most of the damage reported so far was to corn, poultry and fat livestock, like hogs. If this weather continues, he said, it will harm the rich soybean crop before long.

"No crops can withstand this kind of temperature forever," he said.

How much horsepower in your ad program?

If you want your products to move faster, take a cue from the automobile people. They stepped up their newspaper advertising by 47.1% last year.

BIG NATIONAL ADVERTISERS of all types of products increased their newspaper advertising heavily in 1953.

But in the giant automotive field — where manufacturers had to sell as never before — they turned to newspapers with even more dramatic force.

These big advertisers rely on newspapers as their basic medium.

They know that almost all the people in every town read a newspaper just about every day. It's one thing people won't do without.

They know that people read the newspaper for the ads as well as for the news — and that sales action follows newspaper reading.

IF YOU SELL PRODUCTS IN THIS AREA — don't settle for advertising that covers part of your market part of the time. For fast turnover, you need a steady, high-power ad program that hits on all cylinders!

If you're not getting newspaper advertising on your products, tell your manufacturers' men you want full support in your local newspaper.

"It's time to go—where'd you bury your father?"

STREET ROD

by Henry Gregor Felsen

XXVI

He wonders how fast he ought to drive. There was no speed limit in Iowa. Reasonable and proper was the rule for the open highway. It was for the motorist to decide what was reasonable and proper. Ricky decided that 60 would be a good compromise, since it was light and the road was clear and dry.

Ricky kept his eyes on the road ahead. "What do you think about college?"

"Do you mean am I going?"

"Well, yes."

"I'd like to. Even if you just get married, the things you learn in college help you."

"Would you think less of a fellow because he didn't go to college?"

Sharon bit her underlip thoughtfully. "Well, if I liked a fellow I wouldn't think less of him if he couldn't go to college. But a boy has to go to college these days if he wants to get anywhere in the world."

"Suppose," Ricky said, "he could get where he wanted to go without college? Do you think he ought to go anyway?"

Sharon nodded. "I think college does something for you. It makes you a more intelligent person, no matter what you do. Which college are you going to?"

"Which... Oh, I don't know. State. For the engineering courses."

"I've been thinking about Iowa City," Sharon said. "The University offers more courses for girls."

"I hear they have a pretty good engineering school too," Ricky said. "But I don't know if they teach anything about automobile designing and engineering."

"Is that what you want to do?"

Ricky nodded. "I still want to build custom cars. I could probably start my own business without college, if I wanted to. There's a real future in design. You can buy engines that have been modified any way you want them, but the individual design—there's a real field."

"I think you need college for that," Sharon said. "To be real good."

"I intend to be the best," Ricky said, and he wasn't bragging.

"I think you ought to go."

"I guess I will, then."

"Because I said so?"

"That's one reason."

He held to 60 all the way to Des Moines, obediently slowing down when he went through the little towns. From time to time a car would come up from behind and sweep past, and when he was passed by cars that he knew were slower than his, it was hard to keep from chasing them. There was just something about being passed and left that irritated him.

In Des Moines Ricky drove carefully. He had hardly entered the city limits when another street rod appeared alongside him and gave him the challenge. It took will power, but Ricky ignored the challenge.

Because he was being so good and so careful, he ignored the police siren when it sounded behind him, and kept on driving. It wasn't until the prowl car cut in front of him that he realized the siren was for him. He pulled to the side.

The cop who walked back to his window was the same big guy he'd had the run-in with before.

"Didn't you hear the siren?" he demanded as he approached.

"Yeah," Ricky said. "But I didn't think it was for me."

"Oh, you didn't think it was for you," the cop said sarcastically.

"I wasn't doing anything wrong," Ricky said, bold because he knew he had the right on his side. It was a good feeling too.

"Oh, no. You're the lad who never does anything wrong. No speeding, no firecrackers, no nothing."

Ricky reddened angrily. He didn't like to be made fun of in front of Sharon. It made him seem like a child. He looked the cop in the face, determined to have it out like a man. "I think I have a right to know why you stopped me," Ricky said.

"You have a right. Well, I'll tell you, youngster. I want to warn you that if there's any trouble in the city tonight, I'll know where to look. I..."

The policeman broke off as he saw the DTA sticker. He walked around to the right side of the car, examined it, and returned to Ricky's window. "What's the DTA?" he demanded.

"The Dellville Timing Association," Ricky said.

He handed his card to the policeman, who studied it. "Ricky Madison, President. Dedicated to sportsmanlike driving, courtesy, observance of all laws..."

The policeman leaned on Ricky's window, his manner suddenly friendly. "So, you've got one too, eh? How many members?"

"Only seven," Ricky said. "But we're hoping for more."

"You didn't have this last time I saw you..."

"We just started," Ricky said. "We're trying to get a supervised drag strip. And maybe start a driving team."

"Son," the policeman said, "I know about these clubs and I'm all for them. I was ready to give you a lecture, but I don't think you need it. As far as I'm concerned, I'll honor that sticker, and until it's proved otherwise, in my book you're a good, careful, reliable driver. Have a good time in the city, kids."

"Thanks," Ricky said, his throat tight with emotion. "Gee, I..."

"Thank you," the cop said. "The more of you there are, the easier my job is. Say, I just thought of something..."

Creditors of Kramer to Get Penny on Dollar

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Debts of a "partner" of the late Robert L. Knetzer, the fabulous southwestern Illinois auto dealer, will be paid off at a rate of little more than a penny on each dollar.

Creditors of Arthur F. Kramer, Jerseyville farmer who sold cars he got from Knetzer from an alfalfa field, were advised of the split at their final meeting Saturday.

Basil Contrakon, referee in bankruptcy, said today it probably will take until Sept. 15 to get checks for some 1,500 claims totalling less than $55,000 into the mails.

Kramer and Knetzer got into trouble in the fall of 1948 when their auto sales business went sour. Knetzer had been taking deposits on cars by the hundreds at bargain prices, but his business failed when he failed to come through with enough cars.

Hundreds of depositors asked for their money back, and both Kramer and Knetzer went bankrupt.

Creditors filed some 2½ million dollars in claims against Kramer. About $72,000 in assets were recovered, and with bankruptcy expenses, $55,000 was left for the creditors. Certain expenses like attorney's fees still are to be deducted from this before it is distributed.

Contrakon said the hearing winds up bankruptcy proceedings against Kramer. However, his creditors still may proceed against him through other legal avenues to collect unpaid debts, if further assets are turned up, he said.

Knetzer died of a heart attack in the west last summer. Hearings on his bankruptcy are expected to be resumed this fall.

Find Body of Girl, 18, Crammed in Dresser Drawer

Indianapolis Police Hunt 'Pretty Boy' As Murder Suspect

INDIANAPOLIS (U.P.)—Police today hunted a "sweet, pretty boy type" man who stayed in the hotel room where a near-nude 18-year-old girl's body was found crammed in a dresser drawer.

Homicide Capt. Robert Reilly said the man, who registered as Jack O'Shea, under a phony New York City address, was the "prize suspect" in the death of Dorothy Poore of Clinton, Ind.

The girl's body, clad only in a slip, brassiere and panties, was found Sunday in room 665 of the swank Claypool Hotel. She was described as a "very pretty, striking brunette."

Death Cause Unknown

Coroner Roy B. Storms said his first examination of the body showed "no indication of rape and no suspicion of it."

He said the girl appeared to have been dead three or four days. Hotel Manager W. B. Carr said O'Shea checked into the Claypool July 15, the day after Dorothy, a recent high school graduate, came here looking for a stenographer job.

O'Shea was described by Mrs. Mary Mills, mail clerk at the hotel, as a neatly dressed, blond, "sweet, pretty boy or Van Johnson type."

It was reported he had summoned maid to the room last Friday to change blood-stained bed linens. He told them, it was reported, that the blood had drained from his sinuses.

Police speculated that the girl's body may have been in the old-fashioned golden oak dresser drawer at that time.

Suspect Leaves Friday

O'Shea paid a second day's rent Friday afternoon, which paid him up to 4 p. m. Saturday. He apparently left the hotel sometime Friday night.

Storms said advanced decomposition of the body made immediate determination of the cause of death impossible. There were no bullet holes or knife wounds or other signs of violence on the body, he said, but added "You don't just stuff yourself into a dresser drawer."

Authorities speculated the girl might have been smothered with a pillow or died of suffocation in the drawer.

Belt Is Clue

They also studied a blue plastic belt found in the room as a possible murder weapon.

A woman's white blouse and blue jeans, clothes of the type Miss Poore was wearing when last known to be alive, were found stuffed in a hole in a closet wall.

The girl was identified from a social security card found in her purse which also contained a nickel and a pack of chewing gum.

The girl, five feet, seven inches tall and weighing about 125 pounds, was wedged into the bottom drawer of the dresser.

Reilly said the body was folded at the hips and that it must have taken considerable strength to stuff into the drawer because his men had to dismantle the drawer to remove the body.

Continue Hearing Against Secondary Boycott by Dist. 50

Merchants Beat Paducah Giants In Eleventh, 9-5

The Harrisburg Merchants fought from behind yesterday afternoon to down the highly touted Paducah Giants in an 11 inning thriller played at the park diamond before the season's largest crowd. The score was 9 to 5.

The Giants have the classiest team that local fans have been privileged to see in some time and the huge crowd showed its appreciation by applauding fine play after fine play by the visitors. Despite the fine fielding by the visiting team, Frankie Logsdon, playing second base for the Merchants, came up with the two finest catches of the afternoon to rob the visitors of run scoring opportunities. Both of Logsdon's catches were over the shoulder running catches of looping liners into right field.

Billy McNew, Merchants' hard throwing right hander, labored the entire eleven innings, in notching the win, his fifth of the season. McNew held the hard hitting visitors to eight safe blows over the route. Ford, a tall, slim right hander, was McNew's opponent until the ninth and he had the locals off balance all afternoon. Going into the ninth, he had allowed only four hits.

The Giants picked up three tallies in their half of the second on three safeties and an overthrow at third during a run-up play which allowed two unearned markers to race across the plate. A single by Patterson and Jones' home run scored two more in the eighth and the visitors appeared to have a safe lead as the locals came to bat in the same inning. However a walk to Bob Williams and a passed ball which allowed him to reach second and Fred Williams' smash into right field gave the locals their first run of the game. In the ninth inning with the score reading 5 to 1 in the visitors' favor, Harold Gully leading off, smashed a drive deep into the centerfield lagoon for a homer and Tom Dunbar followed with a long triple. Logsdon was on as a result of being hit by a pitched ball and Dunbar tallied after Parton's sacrifice fly to right field. Jim Hay walked and McNew singled to score Logsdon and successive singles by F. Williams and Romanosky scored Hay but McNew was out at the plate trying for the winning tally.

Both teams battled evenly through the tenth but after the visitors put two runners on the sacks in the eleventh and failed to score the locals took over. Dick Odle, batting for Spurlock, laced a single into right field and after McNew and F. Williams both walked, Dick Romanosky hit a long towering drive over the centerfield lagoon to end the contest in the locals' favor, with his third homer of the season.

F. Williams, Romanosky and Dunbar with two hits each paced the winners with the stick work while Jones, Johnson and White-side led the losers' offense with two safeties each.

Next Sunday, the Merchants will go to Cambria for a return game. Cambria downed the locals in a contest here this season.

Boros Heads Pros As Top Money Winner

WILLOUGHBY, Ohio (AP)—Julius Boros, the fast-working pro from Southern Pines, N. C., jumped to the head of the list as golf's leading 1954 money-winner today as the circuit moved west to St. Paul, Minn., for the PGA championship starting Wednesday.

Boros won the sudden-death playoff Sunday from George Fazio to take $50,000 first-place prize money at the Carling's Open. The victory boosted his earnings for the year to $15,120, well ahead of last year's winner, Cary Middlecoff, who has pocketed $13,883 so far this year.

Childs Hanover Seen Horse to Beat At Du Quoin Fair

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Veteran harness men said today K. D. Cwen's 2-year-old trotter Childs Hanover will be the horse to beat in the Du Quoin State Fair's grand circuit $30,000 Castleton Farm Stake race Sept. 1.

The Houston, Tex., colt trained and driven by Frank Ervin, Sedalia, Mo., recently made the first start of his career and turned in what has been described as one of the most phenomenal performances in harness racing at the historic Goshen, N. Y., track.

Winning his first two heats, Childs Hanover trotted the final heat in 2:06 1-5, slashing 1 3-5 seconds from the track record for age and gait.

The fleet young trotter, bought by Owen last fall as a yearling for $7,800, will race on the Du Quoin Fair's one-mile track against promising standardbreds such as Cherio Pick, Swords Point, Taselman, Wayhead and Galaphone.

The Castleton Farm Stake and its companion race for 2-year-old pacers—the McMahon Memorial Stake, also worth an estimated $30,000—offer two of the largest purses in the Du Quoin meet's $160,000 purse total.

The 1954 Southern Illinois Exposition runs from Aug. 29 through harness races each afternoon Aug. 30 through Sept. 3.

Umpire Pinelli Forfeits Game to Phillies After Fight by Torgeson, Yvars

By MILTON RICHMAN United Press Sports Writer

Leave it to ever-ready Earl Torgeson to touch off the third free-for-all of his career, renew a two-year old feud and cap one of the stormiest Sundays in baseball history.

Torgeson's battle with Cardinal catcher Sal Yvars Sunday, a renewal of their almost forgotten July 1, 1952 fight, resulted in umpire Babe Pinelli's forfeiture of the nightcap to the Phillies, 9-0, after the Phils also had won the opener, 11-10, in 10 innings.

Torgeson figured in his first free-for-all back in April, 1948 when, while still a member of the Boston Braves, he popped Billy Hitchcock with a right during an exhibition game.

"Torgy" took part in his second free-for-all on June 19, 1950 when he felt Pirate pitcher Cliff Chambers had "dusted" him off.

The first trouble with Yvars occurred when Torgeson opened a deep gash over the receiver's right eye because he thought Sal had broken one of his bats.

Sunday's skirmish emptied both benches. Cardinal manager Eddie Stanky threw a flying headlock on Phillie manager Terry Moore and police and ushers ran out on the field to attempt to restore order. When play was resumed, Stanky walked out of the dugout to chat with Ellis Deal, the fourth pitcher he had used in less than five innings.

Forfeiture Protested
Pinelli, aware that the Phillies were ahead, 7-1, anyway, construed Stanky's trip as a stalling maneuver and forfeited the game to the Phils, who moved into third place by one percentage point. Stanky protested the forfeiture first in the majors since Aug. 21, 1949 when the Giants were awarded.

Stock Car Racing Program Tonight

There will be stock car racing at the Saline County Speedway again this evening, time trials starting at 7:30 and racing at 8. The first regular Monday evening racing program was staged last Monday and was highly successful from the racing standpoint, but disappointing from the number of fans.

A large number of cars were on hand, including several making their first appearance on the local speedway and some tiptop driving was exhibited.

The track was unusually dusty last week, making it bad for those in the stands and the drivers too, but track officials have stated they will have the track in much better condition for this evening.

Franklin, N. J., is the only place in the world where willemite, a zinc silicate, is found in large enough quantity for zinc smelting.

Pro Grid Teams Begin Training

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Professional football moves out of the courtrooms to the playing field this week when six National league teams open training camps, and the remaining six will follow in a matter of 10 days to prepare for the season's opening in September.

Ignoring the fact that major league baseball is just starting the down-grade portion of the schedule leading to the pennants and World Series, the footballers begin the peeling of beef for the long grind.

Litigation with Canada's pro circuits regarding player contracts, violation of contracts, and other legal hassles which turned courts across the nation into scrimmage fields during the off-season were dropped for the time being. The order was—get in shape.

The Chicago Bears, Chicago Cardinals, Los Angeles Rams, New York Giants, San Francisco Forty-Niners and Washington Redskins open today. The Baltimore Colts report Tuesday.

The champion Detroit Lions, girding for the college All-Star game at Chicago on Aug. 13, were due in on Wednesday and the Green Bay Packers on Saturday.

The Cleveland Browns report July 25, the Philadelphia Eagles July 26 and the Pittsburgh Steelers Aug. 1.

Ex-Fiancee of Jack Dempsey Weds Swiss Dentist

NEW YORK (AP)—Millionaire Mrs. Estelle Auguste and her Swiss dentist husband who "beat (her ex-fiancee) Jack Dempsey to the punch," were honeymooning in New York today.

The 43-year-old blonde widow of a New York stock broker and Dr. Warner Teufel, 34, of Vevey, Switzerland, were married Sunday in Palm Beach, Fla.

The couple said vows in English but the bride had to interpret for her husband in French what the preacher was saying.

The bride, whose fortune is estimated at close to 40 million dollars, said she met Teufel five years ago in Europe, saw him again this summer, and that "he very romantically followed me over here from Switzerland."

Last December she announced plans to marry Dempsey, former heavyweight boxing champion, because she was "tired of hand kisses" and wanted a "real man."

The romance cooled, she said, because she invited screen star Kirk Douglas to the wedding.
